Why MAN? Why Norway? Why come here?

MAN NORGE

The MAN head quarter is located in Fjellhamar, around 45min outside the city center of Oslo, easily reachable by public transport. It is recommended to live in Oslo city rather than in the outskirts since Oslo offers a wider range of amenities.

You will work in a comfortable office environment with open-minded and friendly colleagues, split into around nine departments. Three departments are continuously equipped with German interns on a full-time basis, so you will enjoy their company throughout your stay.

All tasks require a high degree of independence and

*In the Bible, it rained for 40 days and 40 nights.
They called it a disaster.*

- In Norway, we call it summer ☺

Living in Norway is easy. You don't need to speak Norwegian since English is spoken by the majority of the population. Simple Norwegian phrases are always appreciated though ☺

People pay cashless; an credit or debit card is practically the only mean of payment. Beware of currency exchange rates and charges!

Living conditions can be compared to Germany, even though food and drinks come at a higher price. Good thing about that: you never give tip!

You live in Europe without actually living there – No roaming costs, no adapter needed and no passport needed.

Norwegians are nature-oriented people. They enjoy outdoor activities and spending time in their cabins. It is generally a safe country to live in.

Free Time Activities / Social Life

Since Oslo is Norway's capital and most vibrant city, it offers a broad food scene (Oslo Street Food, Mathallen), many unique bars and cafés (Grunerløkka area) and lots of outdoor activities (winter: skiing, sledding, skating, sauna; summer: hiking, swimming, fishing). We interns normally try to spend some time together on the weekends to explore Oslo. This is easy since Oslo offers a well-developed transportation system.
